As is generally known, the Mohawk Valley is the As is generally known, the Mohawk Valley is the broom manufacturing centre of the country. At present the trade is duil. Some of the factories are closed, while others are being run only part of the time and with a reduced force. The inboding classes are much disturbed over the outlook, and particularly is this true of the handreds of women and girls who find employment in the knitting mills. For three or four years the business has been remarkably good, the manufacturers have made money and wage-carners have been profitably employed. The possibility that the Democratic poley will give the country free wood has as much to do with the anxiety of dealers in knit goods as the financial unrest. They see a possible chance of buying goods cheaper later. The outlook is indeed discouraging to the manufacturers as well as to their employes. It is a noticable fact that the Democratic politicians do not care to discuss the situation.

Chicago, July 29 (special)—After being compelled to close its large works at Johet and Bridgeport, and after making a gradual reduction in its laboring force since January 1, the Illinois Steel Company has found it necessary to reduce the force, a small one, employed in the fitting-shops of the North Chicago works, over 5,000 men were thrown out of employment when the Joliet and Bridgeport works were shut down, and although more than six months have passed since then it has been impossible for the company to resume operations. At Milwaukee and the North Chicago works gradual reductions have been going on all the year, and as time advances things seem to grow worse instead of better. The reduction yesterday at North Chicago was a small one, but large considering the comparatively few men now employed by the company. Only 200 men were engaged in the fitting stops, and 10 per cent of the force was discharged. An officer of the company said this morning in speaking of the situation: "It is the same way all over the country. Manufacturers are simply waiting until Congress meets again. They don't care to pile up a lot of goods in the face of the declaration of the Democratic party to carry out its low tarth ideas. If it is decided after Congress meets to keep up the tariff so far as steel is concerned, all the mills in the country will open, and owing to the long lapse more men than ever will be employed. Until something in that direction is done to reassure the manufacturers, mills will continue to close down and reduce their forces until few in the country will be in operation."

Buffalo, July 29.—The Barber Asphait Company has discharged 1,000 men because of the dull times. W. Y. Warren, cashier of the company, said that the company had been employing an unusually large number of men during the season and had let them go because the work is mostly completed. "It is not true," he said, "that the reduction in our working force is caused by the discount banks refusing to take our city warrants, as they have other city 4 per cent garrants."

WISCONSIN'S INDIANS.

From The Appleton (Wis.) Crescent.

In 1836, when Wisconsin was organized as a Telestriory, the civilized tribes of Indians Hering in Wisconsin were the Brothertowns, the Stockbridges and the on-idas. The two former were located on Lake Winnebago in Calumet County. By acts of Congress II the Brothertowns and a part of the Stockbridges were made citizens of the United States.

The uncivilized Indians were the Pottawatomics and the Winnebagoes.

We leve in what was the Menominee Indian country in 1836. At that time they could muster at least 2,000 warriors. Now they are civilized. They furnished many excellent soldiers for the Union Army, and that service accelerated the civilization of the tybe. Probably they could not now furnish over 500 men fit for military service.

The Chippewas diminish less rapidly, but the Pottawatomics are nearly extinct in this State. The Winnebagoes were sent to Nebrasko, but several bands returned and have homestend lands in Northwest Wisconsin. They do not progress much in the direction of civilization. From The Appleton (Wis.)
